

Penny, what did you learn in class?

Although I am not very good at English writing, I tried very hard to write some good sentences over the semester.

During this English writing class, I learnt a lot about how to write a paragraph with colourful words and sentences. We discovered that when we use different words to describe situations in a story, it can effect a readers' emotions, so we have to use words that are suitable. In addition to the words, we have to check our grammar carefully and try to link our sentences together.
